GAVEL PRESENTED TO WALTER J. MARION

BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HONORING A HOME TOWN BOY

Who Was Recently Elevated To the Position of President of the National Vegetable Growers Association a Signal Honor To a Pickaway County Son of the Soil and the First Native To Hold Such a Prominent Office--Gavel Was Chiseled From a Piece of Wood from the Famous Logan Elm.

Lettuce see what they found after they had been from pole to pole and from coast to coast. They found this long looked for man of sterling worth and just the man for their leader, this very man I am happy to say was found in our own state, this great state of Ohio, in our own county, this great county of Pickaway, in our own city, this great city of Circleville and in our own chamber of commerce.

"This man is interested and very influential in one of the largest, and we hope one of the money making industries of our county. He is associated with men of sterling worth, men of the same name and of the same blood, men whom we are glad to call our townsmen and men whom any one would be glad to be associated in business with.

"We are dedicating this meeting tonight to one that we know, one that we know as a Christian, one that we know as a business man, one that we know as a friend and neighbor, and one that we always love to meet in our pathway and one that is making a good mark in this world--this man is Walter Marion, of the firm of Marion Brothers.

"With this man president of The National Vegetable Growers' association, allow me to predict its growing to the most successful and perfect goal ever sought to be reached.

"Walter, on account of you having been chosen by The National Vegetable Growers' association to be their president, we the members of this chamber of commerce wish to show our recognition by presenting you this gavel made of the wood of our noted Logan Elm.

"This can only show our recognition of the splendid judgment of that organization in a very small degree, we hope you will use this gavel when presiding at all your meetings and remember at the same time, that our love and best wishes are with you."

As a mark of respect to a former resident of this county, Tom D. Harman, the chamber of commerce at the suggestion of Joseph G. Wilder, forwarded a letter of sympathy to the family at Pittsburgh, expressing their sympathy and the loss this community has suffered in the passing of a man whose heart and sympathies were so often expressed for his earliest home.

MONDAY CLUB HISTORY IN THE MAKING

Splendid Program on Current Events With Miss Littleton in Charge.

Since the foundation of the Monday club the study of history has been one of its aims, and as history in the making is of particular interest to some of the members, the club launched out in its year's work, in September in giving a splendid program on Current Events. The second study of this subject was given Monday night with Miss Clara Littleton, chairman of the Current Events division, in charge. A good proportion of the members were present with Miss Flora Dunlap, of Des Moines, Iowa, as a visitor.

The first topic on the program was a "Current Events in Europe," which was discussed in a well written paper by Miss Sadie Brunner. Miss Brunner gave in detail a most interesting resume of affairs in Europe under the sub-heads; "Locarno;" "Italy;" "Conference at Stockholm;" "Cailaux and the resignation of the Cabinet;" "Russia;" "Balkan war;" "Industrial Crisis in Britain;" "The Prince of Wales." At the conclusion of this paper Miss Dunlap was invited to add something on the subject, in view of the fact that she has returned from Italy, very recently. She graciously responded and gave briefly some of her observations while abroad, particularly her impressions of Mussolini and his relation to the people of Italy.

"Industrial Affairs of the United States" was then taken up by Mrs. J. R. Noecker, who prefaced her reading by explaining that as the subject of current events is a dry one, she had written on both sides of her paper so that her bearers would not be frightened by the sight of so much paper. But that her audience did not find her topic dry was evidenced by the close attention paid her reading.

Mrs. Charles Gerhardt had the next topic, "Political Events at Home," her paper being both instructive and entertaining. She took up the election of U. S. Senator La Follette; President Coolidge's address to the American Legion at Omaha; the coming of the Italian debt commission to this country, and other important events.

This was the conclusion of the regular program, after which Miss Littleton finished a topic left over from a previous meeting, her subject being "Current Events in the Artist World." Miss Littleton talked from notes and in a most interesting manner described the latest developments in art matters. She described the Harding Memorial, and called attention to the addition being made to the Cincinnati Art museum, the purpose being to make room for some of the older pictures that have been stored away that newer additions might be added to the collection. She also spoke of the death of the artist, Sargent, as being the greatest disaster in the art world during the past year.

Crop Turned Under Contributes Fertilizing Elements Needed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Green manuring as a means of increasing or maintaining soil productivity has come down to us from ancient times. The agricultural fraternity early discovered the value of turning under crops while green or soon after ripening for the purpose of soil enrichment. Nitrogen, a very costly element when purchased in concentrated form, exists in unlimited quantity in the atmosphere. When a green-manure crop is turned under it contributes to the soil not only the various fertilizing elements that have entered into the production of the crop itself, but it also adds to the soil a quantity of organic material heretofore not present. This organic matter, or humus, is beneficial in a number of ways. It makes the soil more porous and therefore capable of absorbing a large amount of water. This increased supply of humus is especially desirable in the case of heavy clays and sandy soils.

Requirements of Roots.

The roots of most crop plants need a moderate amount of air and moisture. They are thus enabled better to withstand drought and to produce greater yields. Soils rich in humus admit air more readily and retain larger quantities of water. Like the camel on a transdesert journey, such soils often imbibe sufficient water to last until the next oasis or drought-breaking rain is reached. It has been shown that while 100 pounds of sand can hold only 25 pounds of water and 100 pounds of clay 50 pounds, the same weight of humus or decaying organic matter will hold 190 pounds. This is a most convincing argument that the farmer should so increase the moisture-retention capacity of his soil as to provide reservoirs of water against the time of drought.

As the green manure, after it is turned under, decays, it provides food for soil bacteria. These bacteria break down and make available for use by crop plants the organic matter contained in the soil.

The roots of legumes, the most desirable of crops for green manuring purposes, have on them growths of varying sizes known as nodules. These nodules are produced by bacteria, the latter drawing their sustenance from the host plant, the legume. These bacteria, however, in the beneficial work they do, more than earn their board. The nodules serve as laboratories for the bacteria, whose task is to bring down into the soil for plant use a supply of free nitrogen. When these legumes are turned under the nitrogen, after passing through certain chemical processes, is changed into nitrates, a food as popular with crop plants as baked beans with Boston Yankees.

The question as to whether the entire crop of legumes should be turned under or the hay cut and merely the stubble plowed under is one to be determined largely by the degree of soil fertility and porosity, the system of agriculture followed, and other local conditions. In general, however, where the need for soil improvement is urgent, the entire crop can, with greater profit, be turned under.

Rodents Destroy Great Deal of Farmer's Grain

The saving of grain from rats and mice and other rodents is of vital importance in making the farm pay a maximum of profit. Every farmer knows that rodents destroy a great deal of grain, even though he may not know how much. The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that every rat eats or destroys at least $2 worth of feed in one year.

Proper storage of grain in strong corn cribs and granaries which have been so built as to resist the encroachments of rats and mice will save the farmer a large sum of money each year.

Concrete corn cribs and granaries are being built by many farmers nowadays because concrete construction is proof against rodents. They cannot gnaw their way into a concrete granary, nor are the surfaces in these structures such that they can climb the walls and enter.

Added to the fact that concrete granaries are rodent-proof are the many other important considerations in connection with this permanent type of construction. Concrete structures are fire-safe; the farmer need not be fearful that his grain supply will be destroyed by fire. Such construction is proof against weather, thus eliminating the danger of the grain being spoiled by dampness.

Chemical Action Caused by Use of Lime on Soil

Lime is a form of plant food. Analysis will show that it is found in all plants the same as nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. It is not usually what we may call an essential element, since most soils contain lime enough for plant requirements. Clover and alfalfa contain considerable lime, and also the wood growth in trees, and seeds. Many soils are quite lacking in nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, so that these elements must be used in manures or fertilizers, but the common need of lime is to bring about some chemical action in the soil.

SOLDIER MEMORIAL TO BE 20000 TREES

Cincinnati, Nov. 9.—Two thousand trees will be planted and 137 tablets unveiled along the roadside of the Dixie Highway between Hamilton and Cincinnati by the Road Remembrance Committee, Armistice day, when a single tablet will be dedicated to the Unknown Soldier.

Every man who served his country from Hamilton County, whose next of kin has been willing to subscribe for such a tree and tablet, will be honored. The majority of these are world war names, but some from the Civil and Spanish wars are interspersed. Besides this there are the "Thanksgiving trees" and tablets, in honor of those who have been spared and whose families wish to commemorate that fact.

The Cincinnati Business Women's Club is planting a tree for Ella Mae Scheer, nurse, who died overseas.

LAWS FOR THE RICH AND POOR

Editor Ohio State Journal:

The Benham and Harrison trial has again given us much food for thought. Apparently there is a law for the so-called rich and another for the poor. Has the human law reached the state that it is one of manipulation, either with pull or without pull?

The defendants' attorney pleaded to give their clients a "chance to get out of the woods." Did he think or consider the multitude that were sent to the woods and are still in the woods through the corruption practiced? There was no question about the guilt. Then why all this procrastination? It seems useless to study law for years and years and to throw this knowledge to the winds. Apparently the time would be better spent in acquiring a large and so-called pull.

Manipulation of personality is in vogue today. It seems the one who can pull the most strings lords it over on the practical and righteous one. And yet this is only a seeming gain. It is like swearing at the sunshine or calling 2x2 three. A personal desire is pleased but the perfect rule or perfection remains intact.

Any degree of cheating is not obliterated by wrong doing. Wrong is not now and never was right. Man can cheat his fellow man but he cannot cheat true law, neither can he escape pay day by procrastination, indifference, haughtiness and dishonesty. Suffering is inevitable. It is a case of the blind lead the blind. The by-products of righteousness are health, joy and lasting peace.

HOUSEHOLD KEEP-SAKES TO BE SOLD

At 12 o'clock noon, Saturday, November 14th, in the W. E. Crist room in North Court street, Miss Cecelia Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Smith, former respected residents of Circleville, will offer for sale at Public Auction, the remainder of the household goods of her parents.

In years gone by the Smith home, at the corner of Scioto and Mound streets, was a haven of rest for all and no one was ever allowed to go away from that home hungry.

As a boy, the writer was just as much at home there as we were at our own home, and the cracker and cookie boxes were always at our disposal, this was the case with all the boy and girl friends of the Smith children; if there ever was a Saint upon this earth, Mother Smith was that person, as she mothered all who passed over her threshold and yet she ruled her home with a staff of iron, in a gentle, Christian-like manner that endeared her to the entire list of her acquaintances. Miss Cecelia Smith, being the eldest daughter of the family, was the second edition of her mother. For some years, however, Miss Smith has been a confirmed invalid from the effects of rheumatism and is forced to part with the keepsakes of her old home on account of circumstances over which she has no control.

Tomorrow we will publish an advertisement of the articles to be offered at the auction next Saturday and here's hoping that the sale may be largely attended.

Miss Anna Florence will have charge of the sale.

The rather ferocious-looking husband who had taken his wife to the seaside scowled at an amateur photographer and rumbled in a threatening bass voice:

"You're mistaken, really! I wouldn't think of doing such a thing."

"Ye wouldn't, eh?" said the husband, still savagely. "And why not? She's the handsomest woman on the beach."

A worth-while economy effected in the City Loan plan of making popular loans is that no loss of time from work or duty is required to get a loan. All details can be arranged by any member of the household—mother, wife, son or daughter—and the loan completed after work hours. Our office is kept open one night each week until eight o'clock for this very purpose. The saving of time in some cases is of no great consequence but in a great many instances time lost from work would amount to more than the entire cost of the loan.

CURE OF SLEEPING MALADY IN SIGHTMissionary From Congo Holds Out Hope.

New York.—After 12 years abroad with but one interruption, Dr. Arthur L. Piper, a medical missionary of the Congo mission conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, has just returned for six months' furlough, accompanied by his wife and two daughters. Both daughters were born in the Congo. The family comes from the most remote mission station of the Methodist church at the village of Mwata-Yamvo of the Paramount chief of the Luunda tribe, at Masumba, near Kapanga, Belgian Congo. All are victims of malaria contracted in the tropics.

Doctor Piper corroborated reports of cruelty in the Portuguese possessions of Angola. He explained the difficulties he had experienced in fighting malaria, sleeping sickness and leprosy among the Bantu natives.

Mwata-Yamvo, where the Pipers have lived for 12 years, with but one brief furlough five years ago, is 1,200 miles from the coast. It is reached by a 2,600-mile rail journey from Cape Town to Elizabethville, the Congo capital, followed by another railway journey to the railroad of Bugama. From Bugama to Mwata-Yamvo is a 21-day journey by caravan.

Are Only Whites.

It is 500 miles from the northern Rhodesian border, and 100 miles from the border of Angola, 9 degrees south of the equator, and has an altitude of 3,000 feet. With the exception of two officials at the government post at Kapanga, five miles away, the Pipers are the only whites in a native population of 45,000.

The entire family were yellowed and listless from the malaria which attacks all white men in the Congo jungles. Taking five grains of quinine a day has been their custom for years and the children were fed quinine from the age of two weeks. Drainage of compounds, and mosquito-proof houses are powerless to protect them from this scourge, they said. Of the children, Ruth, born in 1915, was the first white baby born in that section of the Congo. On her birth she received the name of Mutuba and the gift of a bull calf from the local chief. The baby, Margaret, born in 1920, is making her first trip to civilization.

Doctor Piper said that sleeping sickness and leprosy were the scourge of the district, 4 per cent of the population being lepers. No attempt was made to segregate the lepers, he declared, and only sporadic efforts were made to relieve them.

Germ Now Known.

"Although the germ of sleeping sickness is known," he said, "hitherto no great progress has been made in fighting the disease. The government tries to see that the natives do not live in the sleeping sickness belt along streams and rivers where the carrier, the tsetse fly, breeds. For the same reason attempts are made to keep the villages clean."

"The two drugs we have used have not been successful. They don't cure, but merely delay death. They are atoxyl, injected inter-muscularly, and tartar emetic, which is given intravenously."

"Three cures are now in existence and give definite hope for the future. They are the German preparation known as Bayer 208, a Rockefeller institute preparation called trypanasamide, and a French specific. These are not yet in general use, but I hope to adopt them when I get back."

"Last year I made my first attempt to treat the lepers in the district. They are not segregated, as the disease is of a comparatively mild variety, and they constitute 4 per cent of the population. I gave them chaulmoogra oil, by mouth and injection, and the results were not satisfactory."

"The taste of the oil is disgusting and lingers on the tongue for hours, while injections are so painful that a man is incapacitated for days. A new treatment with sodium morrhuate is reported more satisfactory and I hope to try it out."

New York.—The recent court action brought in Washington, in an effort to clear the title of an inch-and-a-half strip of land held by an asylum for 58 years is only one of a series of lawsuits involving old estates and wills made scores of years ago.

A suit which bore striking similarity to this and which was likewise brought up in the nation's capital about a year ago involved a claim for property in Maryland and the District of Columbia worth hundreds of millions of dollars. Mrs. Nellie Drake Pascoe, the plaintiff, said that just before her father died he told her of the possibility of her becoming immensely wealthy and gave her documents showing that what are now the District of Columbia and Prince George's county were at one time the property of James Anthony Drane II, who came to America with Lord Baltimore's party in 1634.

Acres Not Known.

Drane, according to one of the papers, bought land in the neighborhood of Beltsville, Md., and settled in Prince George's county. How many acres this property included is not definitely known, but it was supposed to take in part of Washington, and it also extended five miles north and ten miles west. Although no information exists that would throw any light on just how the land got out of Drane's possession, it is believed by the claimant that "squatters" took it.

Although Washington has had its share of such cases, it cannot compare with New York city as the claimants' paradise. It is estimated that at least one suit is brought every year in an effort to recover old Manhattan estates. In July, 1924, a New Jersey woman, eighty-two years old, announced that she intended to try to obtain a portion of the land supposed to have been left by Anneke Jans Bogardus. This myth, like many others of its kind, originated in the tales that ancient estates remain unsettled on Manhattan island.

The myth, however, had its inception in real history, for Anneke Jans inherited the land from her first husband, Roelofs Jans, who purchased it in 1636. According to this story, she left the property under a 99-year lease to its occupants, with a clause that it would revert to her heirs when the period expired. A will is supposed to have been made, but actually the property was transferred to the governor of the province, and later Queen Anne presented it to Trinity church.

Other Claimants.

Two more claimants for Manhattan land were lured in February of the same year, when a woman in the South wrote to E. L. Brooks, assistant solicitor of the Title Guarantee and Trust company, in regard to ten acres, now densely populated, which she thought she had a right to claim. The other claim was concerned with an area in Greenwich village, including Washington square.

Other ancient lawsuits based, however, on stronger evidence, such as a deed or will, have lately been fought and won, after many years of litigation costing thousands or millions of dollars. In December last, for instance, a woman at eighty-three won a will fight extending over thirty-eight years by finally establishing her rights as legitimate daughter of George M. Chapman, who died in 1887.

Another aged woman early this year obtained, at the age of sixty-six and after waiting near 15 years, $5,242 left her by an aunt. The money had been placed in a bank to her credit, but it was brought out at the trial that the niece had not known of the deposit or of the existence of the book among her aunt's effects.

Suicide Warns Papers and Cops of His Plans

El Centro, Cal.—X. Yale Zamora, forty-five, press agented his own death here when he notified the papers and the sheriff's office he was going to take his own life.

He wrote a glowing description of himself, then concluded with a statement that he was in ill health and friendless and wanted to die. He gave a messenger boy $20 to deliver the note to the sheriff and triplicate carbon copies to the local newspapers.

Officers hurried to the hotel where Zamora was staying and broke down the door just as he died from taking cyanide.

IN MEMORIAMSOLOMON M. SPANGLER.

Mr. Solomon M. Spangler, Fairfield county's oldest man, succumbed to a heart attack Sunday, passing away in his one hundredth year. Demise occurred at the home of his son, T. M. Spangler, county surveyor, of East Sixth Avenue, this city.

Following his custom of never missing a Lancaster Fair in the 74 years of its existence, Mr. Spangler attended the annual event on Saturday, the final day, caught a cold from the damp and rainy weather. The cold developed into pneumonia, from which the aged man recovered but his heart was weakened by the illness, and he died at the age of ninety-nine years and twenty-one days. His last birthday was Sunday, October 18th.

Mr. Spangler was recognized as the oldest Odd Fellow in the United States and was also probably the most steadfast Democrat in the county, having voted the straight national Democratic ticket ever since he first cast a ballot in 1848, when he voted for Louis Cass, the Democrat who was defeated by Zachary Taylor.

Funeral services for Mr. Spangler will be held tomorrow at the Zeigler Church, at 2 p. m., with burial in adjoining cemetery beside his wife. Rev. Clayton Robertson will officiate.

London.—Adam died of the gout, says an ancient document held by the Herald's college of London. The document, the original of which was written in the Sixteenth century, professes to trace the genealogy of the Saxon kings back to Adam and Eve. It asserts that Adam succumbed to the "gout" and was buried in Hebron. Whether, if he had continued to eat an apple a day he would have kept the doctor away is not mentioned.

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milch cows to provide

- (1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;
- (2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;
- (3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

THE RYTHMATS ORCHESTRA AT C. A. C. DANCE

Notwithstanding the exceedingly inclement weather on last Saturday night, a large attendance marked the regular weekly jitney dance at the C. A. C. gym.

This good attendance was brought about to a great extent by the fact that the popular Rythmats were furnishing music for the occasion. This excellent Dayton organization has become a great favorite with the Circleville dancers and their appearance is sure to bring out a large attendance.

Taking this fact into consideration, the dance committee have entered into an extended contract with this orchestra and they will be heard on next Saturday night and for several Saturdays following.

On the coming Saturday night the committee will stage one of their popular carnival dances. A large supply of hats, horns, confetti and other accessories will be furnished.

We feel no doubt but that this action on the part of the committee will be fully appreciated by the club's dance patrons and that the attendance at the next few dances will set a new record in the increasing popularity of these weekly dances.

As we have before stated in these columns, you do not have to be a dancer to enjoy the music furnished by this orchestra. There are many who go merely to hear the music and watch the dancers. For the benefit of these spectators the balcony is thrown open and it is well filled on each Saturday night by non-dancers. If you have not heard the music of the Rythmats, we would suggest that you attend on next Saturday night, and we will venture to say that you will feel amply repaid.

Our Athletic club is one of our most popular organizations and if you are a patron of these dances, you can have the satisfaction of knowing that you are assisting in maintaining this club which is, no doubt a valuable item in our city's social life.

AMUSEMENTS

A daring production, clothed in comedy and satire is "Proud Flesh" a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by King Vidor, which opened yesterday at the Met theater for an engagement of three days.

The novel of the same name from the pen of Lawrence Sanders was one of the year's "best sellers" and the screen version of it bids fair to surpass the sensation created by King Vidor's last picture, "Wife of the Centaur."

The plot of the story has for its theme a young girl of culture and pride who heeds the call of the primeval urge. Born amid the ruins of a great San Francisco holocaust Fernanda is taken to Spain where she is reared in every luxury.

Eleanor Boardman, as Fernanda, offers something different from the unsophisticated role she will be remembered for in the "Wife of the Centaur." Her portrayal of the character is charming and lays emphasis on her versatility.

Pat O'Malley, as Patrick O'Malley, put all the determination of his race into the part and is most convincing. Harrison Ford, as Don Jaime, does some fine work.

The supporting cast includes Trixie Friganza, Priscilla Bonner, Sojin, William J. Kelly, Rosita Marstini, Evelyn Sherman, George Nichols, Margaret Seddon and Lillian Elliot.

PICKAWAY PIG CLUB BOYS MAKE TRIP TO ZANESVILLE

Joseph Peters, Wilbur Warner, Paul Leonard Wrote Experiences of Trip and Interesting Sights in City on Muskingum---Manager Briggs and Joe Kirk Accompanied Them.

Four Pickaway county boys, who won prizes in Pig Club work and were awarded trips to the New Zanesville Provision company, Zanesville, which were given by the Eastern States company of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, made the trip recently and were chaperoned by Hary J. Briggs, county service manager of the Pickaway County Farm bureau.

Three of the boys; Joseph Peters, Wilbur Warner and Paul Leonard, have written interesting accounts of the trip, and we are pleased to publish them herewith.

Paul Leonard

We boys of the Pig club of the various townships who won prizes at the Pumpkin Show starter on our trip to Zanesville on Sunday noon to see some of our pigs slaughtered, at the packing house. We arrived at Zanesville about dark, ate our suppers at a restaurant and went to a picture show in the evening and staid all night at the Hotel Sherman.

The next morning we went to the packing house called the New Zanesville Provision company to see some of our hogs slaughtered but our hogs did not arrive in time and we did not get to see any of them killed but we did get to go thru the packing house and see the way they cure the different kinds of meat. The building is six stories high and one under the ground. They employ one hundred men and fourteen salesmen on the road. They own their own refrigerator cars. They kill from eight to twelve hundred head of hogs a week and one hundred head of cattle. It takes sixty days to cure hams and thirty days to cure bacon, they smoke meat with hickory sawdust and they call their hams the Groce hams.

After we ate our dinner we went to the pottery where they make dishes, crocks, jugs, jars out of clay with their hands and then it is put in a kiln and burnt hard. We then started on our way home. The towns we came thru were Hopewell, Coaldale, Gratiot, Brownsville, Linville, Amsterdam, Jacksontown, Hebron, Lancaster, Amanda, Stoutsville and then back to Circleville. The counties we went thru was Pickaway, Fairfield, Licking and Muskingum. We, arrived in Circleville about 4 o'clock and had a very pleasant trip.

I am surely, very grateful to the Eastern States company of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation for making this trip possible.

Wilbur Warner.

On Sunday, October 25, I received a call to be in Circleville at 2 o'clock as Mr. Briggs and Mr. Kirk were going to take four Pig club members on a motor trip to Zanesville as guests of the New Zanesville Provision company.

When I arrived in Circleville, I found the rest of the party at Betz's restaurant and in a few minutes we were in a fine Essex sedan owned and driven by Mr. Joe Kirk, of Perry township, wending our way towards Zanesville.

The first town we passed thru of any size was Lancaster. Leaving Lancaster we went past the fair grounds where the Lancaster fair is held and then we were soon at the village of Hebron.

The other towns we passed thru before we reached Zanesville were Jacksonsville, Amsterdam, Linville, Brownsville, Gratiot, Coaldale and Hopewell. The roads were fine all the way and we arrived in Zanesville about 5:30 p. m., safe and sound after about three hours on the road.

On the National road from Hebron to Zanesville, I counted 38 white crosses along this highway. We saw a few oil wells before reaching Zanesville.

After putting the Essex in a garage we then went and rented rooms at a hotel and after eating a fine supper at a restaurant, we then went to a movie picture show which I enjoyed very much.

After the show, we were treated to ice cream, then we went to the hotel for the night. The next morning, we arose feeling fine and after eating a good breakfast, we were ready for sightseeing. We went to the New Zanesville Provision company and Mr. Frank Snyder, secretary of the company, showed us thru this fine establishment. We were shown where they make tankage. The furnace in this building is immense and the man told us it took just one year to put it up. When hogs or cattle are killed at this place, nothing is thrown away or wasted.

We did not get to see them kill any hogs as there were not enough in the plant for a day's work. They kill about 400 hogs per day. We were then shown thru the place where the cattle are killed and dressed.

The cattle are run up a chute one at a time to where there is a man who hits them in the head with a sledge a chain is fastened to both of their hind legs and after being swung up the throat is cut, the hide is then removed from the head and the head is then cut off.

The hide is then taken off and after being dressed they are cut up and placed in cold storage.

About 800 to 1000 hogs and about 100 cattle are slaughtered every week. A fine line of groceries is also handled by this company.

After eating a fine dinner at the New Zanesville Provision company, and having been highly entertained by this company, we bid them good-bye and we then visited the pottery where crocks and earthen ware is made. After spending about an hour at this plant, we then went to the hotel for our grips as we were anxious to get started home, for we did not want to travel after night.

After having been gone one day and night we arrived back home safe and sound. I enjoyed this trip very much and I wish to thank each and every one who helped in any way to make this trip possible, especially the Eastern States company which planned and financed the trip.

Joseph Peters.

Three other boys and myself were granted a trip to Zanesville because we won prizes on our pigs that we showed at the Pumpkin Show.

Mr. Briggs was our chaperon and Mr. Kirk was our driver.

We started from Circleville at 1:40 o'clock Sunday afternoon and arrived at Zanesville about 5 o'clock. We went to a restaurant and got our dinner and then having nothing else to do we went to a show.

Then we went to a hotel to spend the night. The next morning after having breakfast we went to visit the New Zanesville Provision company which is one of the largest industries in Zanesville. They employ about 125 men here.

The manager, Mr. Boyd, was not there but his secretary, Mr. Snyder, was kind enough to show us thru the plant. I liked this man very much as he took such an interest in we boys and explained everything which he thought would interest us.

They kill from eight to twelve hundred head of hogs per week and from 12 to 14 cattle per day.

The use sheep and Chinese hog casings to make bologna and "hot dogs." The hog casings cost $800 per barrel and the sheep casings cost $1,500 per barrel. One barrel lasts about two weeks.

The meat is all smoked by hickory sawdust. There are two methods of curing meat, one is dry salt and the other is sugar cure. It takes about 60 days to cure hams and thirty days to cure bacon.

They have their own refrigerator cars and lines wherever the cars stop they have their own truck men to deliver the goods.

They export about fifteen cars of lard per year. Besides being packers they are wholesale grocers.

We got our lunch there at the Provision company. We then went to spend about an hour at the pottery which was very wonderful. After seeing that we started home. The Eastern States company of the Ohio Farm Bureau surely was kind to us boys in financing and planning this wonderful trip.

Found Treasure in Dive

One of several boys who went swimming in Dry creek, near Dobbins, Cal., diving to the bottom struck his head on a pall. With the aid of his companions he dived again and brought up the pall, which was found to be filled with nuggets and gold dust. On the side of the pall was the illegible name of a miner and the date "1868." The top of the pall was caked with dirt, holding the treasure intact.

BEAUTIFUL---YES BUT WILL IT WORK?

With its beautiful lines, and mahogany finish, the Estate Heatrola is indeed very beautiful. Folks quite often mistake it for a high-priced phonograph. As it is so radically different from the type of heating stoves used for so many years folks are naturally a little skeptical about results. AUXILIARY MEETING

An unusually large and enthusiastic number of members of the auxiliary to the American Legion met in regular session at the home of Mrs. A. A. Parrett last evening. Mrs. Charles Smith gave a very vivid description of the district convention which was held at London on Tuesday of last week and which she attended, accompanied by Mrs. Parrett and Mrs. Prose. She spoke very enthusiastically about the work of the London chapter and of the progress that they have made. Mrs. Parrett then named Miss Anna Florence, Mrs. B. F. Yates and Mrs. Arthur Weigand as members of the nominating committee and asked they be ready to report at the first meeting in December. A committee for auditing was also appointed.

The furnishing of the Post Room at the Memorial Hall was then taken up and as the auxiliary has agreed to attend to this matter, a sample of a rug from the Brenner Bros. Rug Mfrg. of Lancaster, was displayed and an estimate made by Mr. Brenner on the cost of making rugs from the old carpet was read. This was also passed on and the matter of raising money to meet these expenses was then taken up. Because of the banquet for the Legion which the auxiliary has charge of, these arrangements were attended to and the matter of finances was left for the next meeting.

Mrs. Parrett appointed Mrs. Amos Wilson and Mrs. B. F. Yates to assist in the preparations and Mrs. Chas. Smith will have charge of the dining room and she may appoint her own committee. It is hoped that all members of the auxiliary will respond to the assistance of the chairmen.

It was voted that the citizens of Circleville be asked to display the flag on Wednesday, Nov. 11th, and at 11 o'clock a. m., a pause of two minutes be given to silent prayer for the fallen heroes who died during the World War.

GETTING ITS SHARE

Some of the speakers at the convention of the American Federation of Labor seem to be willing to give labor-saving machinery their blessing on condition that the entire saving be paid out in higher wages and shorter working hours.

In other words, labor would get the whole benefit, and the inventor and the capitalist whose initiative produced the benefit, would get none of it. If labor expects such altruism from anybody it is growing too optimistic.

If, on the other hand, all labor demands is a fair share of the benefit, the answer is that it is getting that now. That is why labor is prosperous and why labor has automobiles and radio sets.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

Skyline Road

In the vicinity of Canon City, Colo., is a unique road. It lies along the summit of a hogback ridge a thousand feet above the surrounding plain on both sides. This drive is about 35 feet wide, it winds to and fro and sweeps gently up and down on the narrow crest for about four miles. The view from this skyline is beyond description. The top of this ridge is really the "skyline" on the west of Canon City, and as vehicles are driven along the skyline for miles they are silhouetted against the sky in a very interesting fashion. Thousands of autos visit this place every year to take a ride over this unique road, which is as smooth as a city street. It is a monument to John Cleghorn, warden of the State prison, who has the work done by convicts, free to the state.

CIRCLEVILLE EAGLES

Lost To Chillicothe Smoke House Team By 8-7 Count.

Another account of the Eagles-Smoke House game Sunday at Chillicothe:

Playing the best game of the season, and outplaying Chillicothe in every department of the game, the local team went down to defeat on Meaco field. Circleville scored early in the game when Chillicothe fumbled a punt and Circleville recovered on the fifteen yard line. A series of line plunges took the ball over for the first score of the game. Mason kicked goal. From then to the end of the last quarter it was all Circleville.

Chillicothe then changed their backfield and plunged the line for thirty yards into Circleville territory before losing the ball. Merriman was thrown behind the goal for Chillicothe's two points. Chillicothe then kicked off and Circleville failed to gain. The punt was blocked and recovered by a Chillicothe player who ran forty yards for a touchdown.

This was a hard game for Circleville to lose, as there was but one minute to play when the Chillicothe touchdown was made.

Though outweighed by a considerable margin the local team played an excellent game of football and the fans who made the trip thought that it was a chance to get even for what happened several years ago.

Next Sunday the Chillicothe team will play a return game at Mason's Field and the locals intend to do to them what no independent team from Circleville has done for seven years, defeat Chillicothe.

Circleville had the best lineup Sunday they have had this season and as no one was injured the same old bunch will be out there next Sunday.

About five hundred fans braved the cold, and possibly one hundred went from here.

Chillicothe promises three hundred rooters next Sunday.

THE BREAK-FAST TABLE

The duller and most unattractive table of the whole day may easily be the breakfast table.

No one feels any too sweet and friendly early in the morning so it is at this first meal of the day that the colored cloth can do the most good as it is a scientific fact that color has definite reactions upon the beholders. Lettuce green is soothing, mauve is stimulating, lemon is cool and blue is inspiring. Let the flowers of the breakfast table be few and simple, and above all without perfume. Heavily-scented flowers at 8 a. m. are positively revolting to some people.

Silver and cut glass do not make as attractive a setting as quaint appointments of the pottery variety which, of course, are expensive and cost little labor in keeping clean. Radia napkin rings, or something similar, are also charming and in keeping with the colored table napkins to match the cloth. Try to have a bowl of fruit or a few flowers for the breakfast table. The former is so frequently served for breakfast these days that it is decorative as well as useful.—Marian Jane Parker, Home Economics Dept., Calumet Baking Powder Co.

"Well, you remember it was a strange gate post," responded Bluebelle gravely.

Heat with Distinction

At last it is proved that a home heater can be good looking—ornamental, if you will—as well as a practical heat-producing utility.

The Mueller Furnacette marks the greatest advance in home heating equipment since the invention of the heating stove. It is the joint creation of master furniture designers and skilled heating engineers. There is distinction in every line of its well-balanced, walnut-grained, vitreous enamel cabinet.

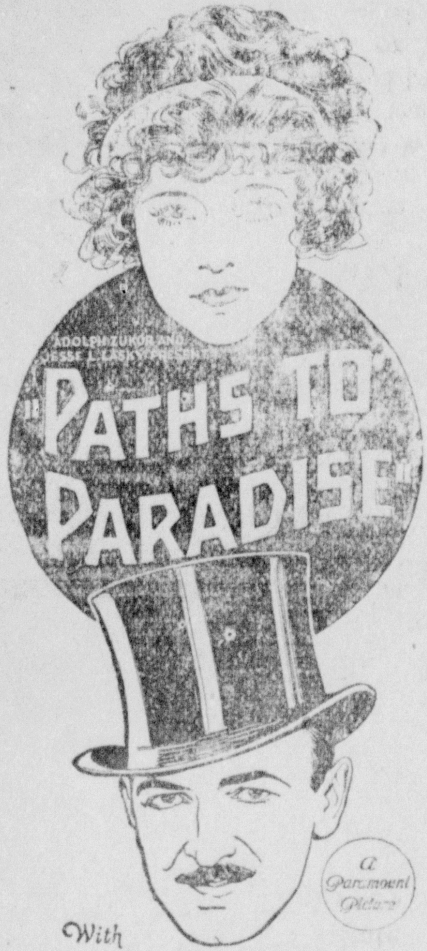

And as for heat—never was there an above-floor heater of any kind that could compare with the Furnacette in heating efficiency! It heats the whole house by continuously re-circulating warm, moist air thru all the rooms. It provides more comfortable, more uniform heat than two or three stoves combined, yet uses no more fuel than an ordinary heating stove.

HARTMAN THEATER.
x x x x x x x

Unquestionably the most important musical event of this or any other season is the engagement of the Messrs. Shubert's unparalleled success, "The Student Prince" which will be seen for one week only at the Hartman theater, Columbus, commencing next Monday evening at 8:10 sharp. According to authentic reports from both press and public the Messrs. Shubert's have out done themselves in the production of this charming story of "Old Heidelberg." They have not only selected the best cast of concert artists, but they selected their famous male chorus of sixty voices from 500 applicants from the leading music colleges of America as they did the pretty golden voiced female chorus. The beautiful music having been written by Sigmund Romberg, America's foremost writer, it requires trained voices to properly render it, and experienced musicians to play it. That is the reason the special symphony orchestra is part of the organization which numbers 125 people in all traveling in a special "Student Prince" train of seven cars. "The Student Prince" is still playing in New York, Boston and Chicago where it has turned people away for more than a year. The company to be seen here is a "special" company and is probably the pet company of the Shuberts, and after playing in this city will go to St. Louis for a five weeks engagement.

According to a close check-up kept on the people attending this marvelous light opera, many people have witnessed the performances two and three times which alone is an assurance that it must be a most unusual and fascinating operetta. It is a production that will live forever in the memory of lovers of good music, a wholesome story and costuming that is unsurpassed, owing to the length of the performance and to allow the out-to-town people to catch their train or cars, the curtain will rise promptly at 8:10 evenings and at 2:15 for the Wednesday and Saturday matinees. You cannot afford to miss this wonderful attraction.

FORMER WIFE SUED AS "POISON PEN"

Ask $250,000 of Woman of Four Romances.

New York.—Indicted for sending a poison pen letter through the mails to Arthur H. Marks, millionaire tire and organ manufacturer, Mrs. Lydia Locke Dornblaser, singer, is being sued for $250,000 for defamation of character by Mrs. Marks, formerly Mrs. Margaret Hoover of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Dornblaser has been married four times. Marks was her third husband. Her second was Orville Harold. Metropolitan opera tenor. Her present husband has been described as a bond broker and her private secretary from whom she is estranged. He is a good looking youth.

Her first husband was A. W. ("Prince") Talbot, race track gambler, whom she killed at Reno in 1909. She was acquitted because of his deathbed statement that the shooting was accidental.

Federal authorities revealed that the singer's sister, Mrs. Frances Adams, wife of a Joplin (Mo.) merchant, had been arrested and released on bail there as the actual sender of the note. It was mailed from Bellefontaine, Ohio, July 30, by a public stenographer, to whom it is charged, Mrs. Adams had given it on a train. The text of the letter is withheld.

Marks settled $400,000 on Mrs. Dornblaser when they were divorced last fall, $100,000 of which was put in trust on condition that she would not annoy him for five years. The good behavior pact was first broken shortly after the divorce, counsel for Marks avers, when she attempted to palm off a bogus child on him. Court proceedings in New York resulted in the child being returned to a sanitarium in Kansas City.

The good behavior fund was cut in half as a result of the paternity charge. Marks' lawyers say, and has now been cancelled entirely.

Counsel for Mrs. Dornblaser said the poison pen charges were an attempt by Marks to get out of fulfilling the trust fund agreement.

Raise Level of Entire English Town Five Feet

Northwich, England.—Shifting houses bodily several miles and towns some yards along the level has often been done, but raising a whole town five feet is something new.

This is claimed to have been accomplished by the surveyor of this town in just under three years.

The entire business portion of Northwich, including ten streets three banks, the county court and 200 stores and houses, have been raised to counteract the effect of subsidence caused by the brine pumping which proceeds continually in the salt mines under the town.

There has been no stoppage of business and only eight buildings have had to be demolished because they could not be safely lifted.

In raising operations, parts of the lower brickwork were removed and small hydraulic jacks inserted. Chemists' stores were lifted so carefully that not one bottle was disturbed.

The town bridge was raised five feet at each end to bring it up to the new level of the town.

More Oranges, Fewer Grapefruit, Tangerines

Washington.—A preliminary estimate of the orange crop in Florida by the United States Department of Agriculture indicates 10,900,000 boxes, excluding tangerines, for 1925-26, or about 600,000 boxes more than the revised estimate of the crop last year.

Tangerine production is placed at 600,000 boxes, or 100,000 less than last year, and grapefruit, 7,500,000 boxes, or 700,000 less than last year.

The total preliminary estimate for citrus fruits is 19,000,000 boxes, compared with a revised estimate of 19,200,000 boxes last year. These estimates are of the commercial car lot and express movement, and exclude the usual loss from drops.

Decreased production of grapefruit is attributed to light and spotted setting of fruit, and to the fact that there will be more over-sized fruit than usual. Unless market conditions are such that the large sizes can be shipped and sold, they will either move by truck or be lost from dropping, the department says.

Miles of Flying Ants Invade Adirondacks

Saranac Lake, N. Y.—A great column of flying ants recently passed down the Raquette River valley section of the Adirondacks. A cloud of insects estimated to be four miles long required an hour and a quarter to pass given points. Amazed residents at first believed the cloud was smoke from a forest fire. The ants flew in great sections, but the sections were never more than a few feet apart.

After the passing of the column, the river surface was covered with the bodies of thousands of insects that had flown too low. The ants were about a quarter of an inch long with the exception of the queens which measured a half inch. Flying ants are new to the Adirondacks.
